The Roman will publish primary election results

By LUCY WIESEND
Roman News Editor

The results of yesterday's primary election were not complete when this week's edition of The Romulus Roman went to press, so as a convenience to area residents, The Roman is holding an election telephone line operation to residents.

For information on the winners of the primary in Romulus, residents can call the Roman office at 941-1275 from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Results of the primary election also will be available at the Romulus City Hall during business hours.

Full primary election coverage will be published in next week's Romulus Roman.

THE ROMAN regrets any inconvenience an error in last week's primary election coverage has caused readers.

An article in the Roman said area voters would have to select 14 council candidates out of 28 citizens seeking election to the Romulus City Council.

Actually, voters only had to vote for seven council candidates. The top 14 vote-getters in the primary election will vie for council seats during the Nov. 7 general election.

The article also said "voters will be faced with a number of city charter amendments designed to clarify the charter and bring it more in line with state laws."

No charter amendments appeared on yesterday's ballot.

The Michigan Secretary of State did not return the final wording on the charter changes to the city in time to have them included on the primary ballot. City officials are working to see that the changes - which will improve the city's bookkeeping procedures, make the council terms more stable and detail the chain of succession in the event the mayor is incapacitated or unable to serve - are included on the November general election ballot.

City officials defend action

Auditors detail bookkeeping errors

One of the findings of deficiencies in practices by Romulus government officials in an audit of the city's books by the Michigan Department of Treasury was that city officials received lump sum expense payments, and compensation for time lost from the job, even though the city charter specifically forbids such payments.

The auditors prepared a report detailing payments of expense money and compensation for lost time to administrators and councilmen which the auditors said, "appear to be paid in violation of sections of the city charter."

One section forbids the payment of "lump sum" expenses, while another section stipulates that councilmen's salaries "shall be in lieu of all services except travel, education and such additional expenses as shall be determined to be proper by the council."

MORE THAN $3,800 was given to the elected officials, and some of the city's department heads during the first year the city operated. For the most part, the funds were for undocumented expenses during conferences and for lost time during the 1971 and 1972 Washington D.D. conferences scheduled for each of the city councilmen.

Mayor Hyle J. Carmichel is charged with $313.91 in expenses, including $151.38 for 14 bottles of liquor, $75 for expenses during the May, 1971 Washington conference and $87.53 for a council dinner.

The dinner and liquor were said to be "items of a personal nature, even though the Council to discuss jobs

The regular meeting of the Romulus City Council has been scheduled for 8 o'clock tonight due to yesterday's primary election.

The council will be discussing classifications for union personnel and the purpose was to entertain business and professional leaders" by the audit report.

THE $75 expenses were said to be lump sum expense payments in violation of the city charter.

Carmichael refunded $40 of the $75 expense payment in September, 1971.

Both Treasurer Albert

Glinzki and City Clerk Leonard Folmar were cited for similar $75 expense checks at the May, 1971 conference.

Council President Jimmie C. Raspberry, and Councilmen Ellis T. Pennington, James C. Stewart and Booker Edwards were each cited for $145 checks for the same 1971 conference and $70 checks for a June 14, 1972 Washington conference.

THE $145 checks were for "per diem and expenses" while the 1972 checks were for "compensation for lost time". Raspberry said the checks "were issued due to an error against."

from the business, and then look for another location to start it up again.

HE DIDN'T seem displeased that he could continue. "I enjoy this business," he said.

"Besides, business has really boomed since the article. People from all over mentioned it, and said they felt sorry for me."

"Well, for the time being, I won't have to worry."

Raeck's only concern is that the reprieve will eventually run its course.

"I wanted a contract for renting the land," he said, "but they wouldn't listen to me. Instead, I got the letter."

"I GUESS it's better than nothing, but eventually, I'll have to move out and start all over again."

"I don't look forward to that."

Administrators violate Romulus City Charter

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

Although Michigan Department of Treasury officials say Romulus administrators spent more than $800,000 in violation of their own city charter, the administrators appear to be unphased.

In a report dated May 10, the treasury department indicated that the city spent $808,000 in violation of several portions of the city charter. "In short, the city didn't go through the usual procedures needed to appropriate funds," said Alfred Westol, administrator of the treasury department local audit division.

"For the most part, the administration did not gain formal approval for the disbursements from the city council before spending the money," he added.

CITY TREASURER Albert Glinzki said the audit did not point out any criminal activities, but did show some deficiencies in the business operations of the city.

"Despite the mix-up in procedures, the auditor told us this is one of the best - one of the cleanest - audits of a community he's seen in a long time," Glinzki said.

"We took their suggestions for change, and made changes in our procedures - something which is expected with every audit," he added.

Glinzki blames the mix-up on the administration team's newness to public office at the time of the audit.

"WE TOOK it for granted that we would follow the rules of township government," he said. "It was only until the audit that we found the township rules were in violation of our charter."

"There were no audits in the township government - the trustees wouldn't approve one - so there was no way to find out what the faulty spending procedures were."

The audit found that $649,000 in payroll expenses and another $159,000 for equipment and services in the city was spent without formal council approval or their inclusion on the city's warrant list.

A warrant list details all city expenditures, by check number, during a period of time specified by the city council. Usually warrants come before the council once every two weeks for its approval.

"ONE OF THE charges," City Clerk Leonard Folmar explained, "is that we didn't put every employee's payroll check on the warrant list."

"We didn't know we had to. That took care of the $649,000. We implemented a change immediately, and cleared up the problem."

Folmar said the remaining $159,000 alleged to have been spent without council approval was approved in the city budget for the year.

"The council approved a lump sum expenditure," Folmar said. "We took that money to be used in each area covered by the budget."

"YOU WON'T find any shortages, but you will find some technicalities involved in the thing. That's what got us into trouble."

Folmar added that more than $51,000 in expenditures made without the benefit of bids "were made with the city's good at heart."

"We needed the equipment, and had to have it immediately, so we made the purchase," he said.

The purchases were mostly for replacement parts and equipment for the department of public works.

ONE MAJOR purchase, however, was made to save the city money, according to Folmar.

City group attempts to recall ed board for 'forced' busing

Irate residents of two Romulus cooperative townhouse developments are attempting to recall six members of the city's board of education after it authorized the busing of their children for the fifth time in four years.

A "Stop Action Committee" of residents said it will register recall petitions for the board members sometime this week.

The recall will be directed against Board President Diane Boger, Vice-President Gerald Budd, Secretary Ronald Christensen, Treasurer Hulen Yates and Trustees Carl W. Morris and Gloria Chandler. According to the recall committee the six voted to bus the children of the Birch Run and Wellesley Cooperative Townhouses for the fifth time in four years.

"OUR CHILDREN have been kicked around enough," said Genger Nash, a spokesman for the recall committee.

The board of education, voted to move our children from the Romulus Elementary School, which they attended last year, to the Beverly Elementary School," she said. "Some of our kids have attended seven separate schools in the past five years, and we intend to see that it is stopped."

"Our children were just getting used to attending the Romulus Elementary after being there two years, and now they have to get adjusted to another school."

Mrs. Nash said the Michigan Civil Rights Commission said the residents of the townhouse developments are being "discriminated against."

"The civil rights commission said the city is racially unbalanced, and our children are being used to correct that balance," Mrs. Nash added.

"We don't claim that at all. We believe the board is getting our children conditioned to being bused."

MRS. NASH said the busing wouldn't have such a bad effect on the residents of the townhouse developments, if (Continued on Page A-3)

'Progress' sometimes has a heart

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

William Raeck has found that the "monster known as progress" sometimes has a heart.

The 72-year-old owner of a used goods business who was about to be put off the land he's rented for four years, was given a reprieve by the trucking company which owns the land.

"I received a letter which stated I could stay on the land on a month-to-month basis until such time as the company needs the land," said Raeck, who has operated his business near the corner of Middlebelt and Northline Roads, Romulus, for the past four years as a means to keep busy in retirement.

"I GUESS the company received the article The Romulus Roman did on my business, and reconsidered," Raeck said.

Raeck was the subject of an article in the July 25 edition of the Romulus Roman, in which he stated: "I guess you can't stop progress. But sometimes progress has to stop to let people live a decent life."

He had been renting the land for a nominal fee for the past four years from the estate of a friend, and was engaged in a type of "close out sale" to rid the property of his merchandise before he was scheduled to leave Aug. 1.

The company was being forced to abandon property owned on Merriman Road due to airport expansion to the south. Raeck's site was purchased by the trucking company to make arrangements for an eventual move to the area of the airport.

At the time Raeck said he would take a year off

Criminal cases decrease in '72

Criminal cases filed in Michigan's 45 circuit courts in 1972 were 1,344 fewer than the year before. Civil cases increased by more than 9,000. The 1972 Annual Report compiled by Supreme Court Administrator William R. Hart showed that in 1971, 20,371 criminal cases were filed. In 1972, 19,027 criminal cases were filed.

Civil cases totaled 91,346 in 1971. In 1972, a total of 100,772 civil cases were filed.

In 1972, divorce cases represented 44.3 per cent or 53,100 of the total cases, an increase of 5,902; auto negligence, 10.9 per cent or 13,118 of the total; other general civil cases 28.8 per cent or 34,554 cases.

CIRCUIT COURTS disposed of 122,100 cases in 1972, an increase of more than 11,000 over 1971. This meant a docket gain of 2,300 — more cases disposed of than commenced.

At the end of 1972, a total of 95,957 cases were pending, statewide compared to 99,180 at the end of 1971. The number of cases pending state-wide more than two years decreased from 9,450 at the end of 1971 to 8,079 at the end of 1972.

Wayne County Circuit and Ingham County showed significant decreases in two-year-old cases — Wayne reporting a decrease of 1,263 cases and Ingham a decrease of 260 cases. Macomb County showed an increase of 361 cases pending more than two years. Oakland County reported 654 two-year-old cases at the end of 1972, compared to 625 at the end of 1971, and 558 at the end of 1970.

Hart said that Detroit Recorder's Court made "startling progress" in 1972 in reducing its felony case backlog from 4,539 at the end of 1971 to 2,059 at the end of 1972.

JUDGES disposed of 13,224 felony cases in 1972, the greatest number in the court's history and 570 more cases than in 1971. A total of 27,181 felony and misdemeanor cases were commenced in Recorder's Court in 1972, compared to 28,677 the year before.

Hart said a number of factors contributed to improvement in the felony caseload, including the cooperation of the then Presiding Judge Joseph A. Gillis with the Supreme Court Committee for Wayne County and the Deputy Court Administrator Herbert D. Levitt.

Early disposition of cases was expedited, also, by assignment of three judges to hear pleas so that jury cases could proceed without interruption. In addition, the Supreme Court continued to assign 10 visiting judges as a part of the crash program.

Seven new Recorder's Court judges were elected in November, 1972, taking office January 1, 1973. This eliminates the need for visiting judges except in the greatest emergency situations.

CASE VOLUMES in 1972 of the District Courts show a 14.2 per cent increase over 1971 of cases commenced, with 13.9 per cent more cases disposed of by judges, magistrates and traffic court personnel.

Probate judges handled 13,902 delinquency cases and 5,293 neglect cases in 1972. In 1971, delinquency cases totaled 14,442 and neglect cases totaled 5,436.

These figures concern only those matters in which petitions are authorized by probate court.

"WE ALL FALL DOWN" — Reciting the famous verse that has entertained children for decades, the preschoolers enrolled in the Cory School program in Romulus demonstrated the proper way to play "Ring Around the Rosie." The program, taught by Marie Byrd was both educational and entertaining for the youngsters.

State Board of Education approves millage issues

Nearly 80 per cent of all school millage issues voted on in Michigan during the 1972-73 school year were approved, according to the State Board of Education.

At the same time, voters rejected 68 per cent of the school bond issue questions that they balloted on during the 12-month period ending June 30.

A state board representative said voters approved 405 operational millage issues and defeated 111. It was the highest approval percentage in the six years the state board has monitored millage and bond issue elections.

In three of the previous five years, the approval rate was 60.62 and 62 per cent of millage proposals while in two of the years 70 per cent of the millage proposals were approved.

More than half of the operational millage proposals were on the ballot in June of this year when the annual school elections are held. Eighty-five per cent of the 318 millage proposals voted on in June were approved.

The state board said that more than half of the millage proposals approved in June were for more than one year and several were for as many as 10 years. About two-thirds of the proposals were for renewal of millage while the others were for additional operating millage.

The percentage of bond issues approved — 32 per cent — was about the same as it has been for the previous four years.

School bond issue deadline scheduled

The deadline for filing bid proposals to finance the Van Buren Public School District is 8 p.m. Aug. 13.

The school seeks financing of nearly $2 million to operate the school until collection of current taxes. The tax anticipation notes will be dated Aug. 15 and will mature April 1, 1974. The bonds will bear interest at a rate not to exceed six per cent each year.

Court to arraign man in Romulus shooting

A Detroit man was bound over to the Wayne Circuit Court on charges of shooting a fellow employee in a dispute over a winning $10,000 lottery ticket. He is John P. Reynolds, 48.

Reynolds was bound over to Circuit Court by 34th District Court Judge James B. Stone after he waived a scheduled pre-trial examination before Judge Stone. His arraignment in Wayne Circuit Court is scheduled for Aug. 16.

Reynolds stood mute at his arraignment July 17 before Judge Stone. A plea of not guilty was entered for him by the court. He was released on a $2,500 bond pending trial.

Reynolds is charged with assault and battery with intent to do great bodily harm in the shooting of Blaine V. Gray, 21, also of Detroit.

Reynolds is charged with shooting Gray in the hand July 16 in the parking lot of the Kelsey-Hayes plant in Romulus.

Wayne County Sheriff's deputies said the men had been arguing since March about the lottery ticket.

Reynolds said he purchased the ticket and that it was stolen from him. Gray denied stealing the ticket from Reynolds, police said.

Councilman William Oakley received a $145 check for the 1971 conference, and refunded $33, while Councilman Fred Junior Block received the same amount for the same conference and refunded $30.

Councilman Edmund Bizek Jr., received a $70 check for "compensation for lost time" for the 1972 conference.

COUNCILMAN Edwards received an extra $59 check for "travel" following the 1972 conference.

Former Industrial Coordinator Charles Hazen received $588.86 for meals and bar tabs between June 3, 1970 and Sept. 22, 1971. The auditors said the expenses were not supported sufficiently.

Other individuals received expense payments for such things as plumbing inspections, mileage, meals and one convention, but the checks did not contain enough supporting data, according to the auditors.

The convention payment was $285 to director of the DPW William Pritula. Included in his expenses was $161.33 for four nights in a Chicago hotel with his wife, at $39.26 per night.

ANY PROSECUTION for violation of the city charter must be handled by the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol - the city's local law enforcement agency.

County Sheriff William Lucas said the agency is awaiting a finding from the county prosecutor on the violation's which may be involved before pursuing investigation.

Jaycees schedule 'Walk of Mankind'

The Romulus Jaycees have scheduled a second "Walk of Mankind."

Area residents are urged to volunteer to walk part of the 20-mile route to be laid out by the Jaycees and to pledge a certain amount of money to be donated to charity for each mile they walk.

A similar event early in the spring netted thousands of dollars for both local charities, and for "Project Concern," a world-wide charity dedicated to erecting health facilities in underdeveloped nations.

Walkers are asked to either donate money or obtain sponsors for their walk, to help charitable causes.

Man strikes candidate; She may lose her voice

One Romulus City Council Candidate in yesterday's primary election may lose the use of her voice as the result of an assault days before the primary.

Dolores E. Ristow said she was assaulted at a political rally by an irate man who gave her a karate chop to the throat - a blow which could have fractured bones, destroyed cartilage and possibly damaged her voice box, according to a doctor's reports.

Mrs. Ristow said she was struck by a man after she "asked him repeatedly why he was calling her foul names at a political rally."

She has sworn out a warrant for the man's arrest.

A Wayne County Sheriff spokesman said the warrant has been sent to the city attorney for his approval.

"And we went out to get it. I'd estimate we saved $13,000 with its purchase the first year, because we would have had to spend more money to contract out the service if we didn't have the oiler available."

Findings from the audit have been sent to the Wayne County Prosecutor's office, as required by law.

...FELLOW ROMULUS CITIZENS

The primary election of candidates for Romulus City Council is still a day away at the time of this writing, though before this appears in print, the election will have been held, the ballots counted, and the names of the top fourteen announced.

Whether or not I am among the chosen, I feel a profound sense of gratitude to the many people who in large and small ways were active in my campaign.

Those who made financial contributions, those who helped with time and service, those who gave good-will and encouragement, all were basic to the "RISTOW FOR COUNCIL" organization.

I know many of those who helped in these vital ways, and hope to be able to thank them personally. Others are unknown to me by name, but I am most appreciative for what they have done.

In this group I include the people who voted for me. Your faith is heart-warming and inspiring. I am most grateful to you.

If, when the results are announced, I find that I am not one of the finalists, I will be disappointed, but still pleased with the support given me by my friends. I will continue to take part in city government through my connection with the Romulus-Metro International Airport Chamber of Commerce, and will do my best to serve the community.

If I am one of the nominees, I will continue to operate as an independent thinker. I will inform the electorate as to my standards and beliefs so that when they mark their ballots on November 6, they will know what they can expect of me as a Romulus City Council member.

Thank you, one and all.

The terror of a heart attack

They come to escape fear of chest pains

By DON HOENSHELL, Lansing Bureau Chief

CLEVELAND — They come to the Cleveland Clinic from all over the world to escape the tether of chest pains and to buy back the good years.

Some arrive by ambulance in the terror of a heart attack and full of fear of death at the next breath.

Others fly in from Australia or Brazil or drive their cars from Akron or Indianapolis, popping nitroglycerine pills to keep blood flowing through and around arteries clogged by hardened fat.

In an earlier day, a heart victim could first learn of his agony when it stopped while he slid into second base at a family picnic.

EACH GENERATION of cardiovascular researchers erase another part of the mystery. There are still mountains to climb and fields to explore.

For years the theory persisted, and still lingers, that heart attacks are caused by a blood clot in one or more arteries, coronary thrombosis.

Later day scholars dispute the diagnosis as simplistic and the charge is now heard in professional suites that pathologists are still dragging their feet by ignoring the full impact of arteriosclerosis.

"You find what causes arteriosclerosis and you'll win a Nobel Prize," said one Cleveland doctor.

THIS IS A GRADUAL, progressive clogging of one or more of the three major arteries which serve the heart with blood oxygenated by the lungs.

No single cause has been identified for the phenomenon

which deprives the heart of blood.

There are indications that some of the deadly contributors are cigarette smoking, tension, a diet heavily laden with saturated fats (those which harden at room temperature) and the sedentary life.

Revascularization, or the re-plumbing procedure by which Cleveland Clinic surgeons bypass the blocked arteries when possible by splicing in spare parts saphenous veins from the thigh and a mammary artery, is still controversial but most popular development.

The same or similar procedure is performed in other centers at Houston, Miami, the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn. There have been other bypass techniques using plastic to replace arteries and research efforts at reaming out the arteries.

ALL OF THEM mean open heart surgery, a frightening prospect to the layman. There is a fear of fear, a fear of the unknown to weigh against the fear of taking your chance that the next lawn you mow may be your last.

I went the full route because the promise of a fuller life was better than the tether, the result of two heart attacks five years ago.

There is the waiting period between diagnosis in non-emergency cases and surgery — sometimes months. So I read everything I could get on the procedure, a mistake.

Published research told of the low mortality rate, 2.8 per cent for a single bypass, 3.2 per cent for two or more and only 22 deaths in 22,000 coronary cineangiography (diagnostic procedure) at Cleveland.

Faith is a psychic necessity and any odds less than 100 per cent success are intolerable.

NINE DAYS AFTER surgery, the stitches come out and the patient gets his passport — a pocket-sized personalized book of restrictions and prescriptions during recovery, the passport to a new life.

And on Surgery Plus 10, Dr. John B. Garvey arrived at 8:20 a.m. to make the final stethoscope check and to state the odds. It is a time of rising expectations.

"Your chances of dying have just been reduced from 62 to 15 per cent," he said. "You'll outlive your heart disease."

Now, after recovery, I could jog and swim again and pursue the muse of the newspaper business without the fear of another spear in the chest or the restraint of the tether.

GARVEY IS A MEMBER of one of the medical and surgical teams at Cleveland, fighting uphill with the others against the loss of more than 600,000 lives a year in the United States to heart disease.

There is an unspoken reverence here for the surgeons, headed by Dr. Donald B. Effler and for the developer of the procedure, Dr. Rene G. Favaloro. There is a remarkable lack of status symbols.

The other bypass surgeons, Drs. Laurence K. Groves, Floyd D. Loop and Chalit Cheanvechai are listed as staff members. They perform eight to 10 operations daily.

It is a simple operation in format, though life and death are never very far apart, and it is Effler's goal to make it readily available in community and state hospitals. Cleveland is also a training ground for surgeons.

STATISTICS ARE tentative since the procedure has been used in volume only since 1968. The only available research, conducted by Dr. William B. Proudfoot, surveyed 1,000 Cleveland patients.

Proudfoot showed that 62 per cent of those with triple vessel disease died within five years. The death figure dropped to 35 per cent for those with double-vessel disease and to 15 per cent for those with single-vessel disease.

But, — and here's where the choice is made — 30 per cent of all cases died before receiving medical attention and 20 per cent died in the hospital.

THUS A SUDDEN burst of energy, a slide into second perhaps, if you have arteriosclerosis up to an operable percentage or greater, carries with it a 50-50 chance of death. The alternative, the tether, is worse.

What do you think?

Wants the death penalty reinstated in Michigan

One backer of capital punishment has decided that the only way the death penalty is going to be reinstated is through some do-or-die democracy.

The legislature is not going to take the necessary first steps, according to rep. Kirby Holmes, R-Utica.

So, Holmes, a first-term Macomb County legislator, said he is going to take the "should we or shouldn't we have capital punishment" question to the people.

With help from the Conservative Party of Michigan, he will try to get 300,000 registered voters to sign petitions asking that the question be placed on the November 1974 general election ballot.

Holmes is proposing that the state constitution be changed so the death penalty is mandatory for convicted first degree murderers.

First degree murder is defined as a planned or premeditated murder. It would not include killings which happen during the heat of a fight or disagreement.

In April, Holmes and a group of pro-death penalty legislators were defeated in a move to force a capital punishment resolution to the floor of the House.

Bottled-up in the House Constitutional Revision Committee, the resolution called for a referendum on capital punishment for murderers of firemen, police officers and certain other public officials.

By refusing to allow his resolution to be devoted on by the whole House, Holmes accused his fellow legislators of reneging on their commitment to their constituents.

The only alternative is to take the question to the people in the form of a petition drive for a referendum, Holmes said.

Needed to place the question on the ballot are approximately 256,000 signatures of registered voters, but to provide a cushion for signatures which might be declared invalid, Holmes said he is seeking 300,000.

He said he wants to recruit 300 people or organizations who will make a commitment to gather 1,000 signatures apiece.

Formal signature gathering will begin in September, Holmes said, when people are back from vacation.

The bulk of the signatures, he feels can be gathered by going doorbell-to-doorbell in the Tri-county Detroit Metropolitan area, composed of Macomb, Oakland and Wayne Counties.

"This is where the fervor for the issue (the death penalty) is the greatest," Holmes said.

If finally enacted, he believes that capital punishment "for murder in the first degree would act as a deterrent to some of the senseless killings we are witnessing throughout the state, especially in the city of Detroit."

Michigan has done without capital punishment for 127 years, Holmes said. "The time has come to restore the ultimate penalty for the ultimate crime."

No-fault concept will avoid 'fees'

By STATE SEN. WILLIAM FAUST

No-fault auto insurance is on the way!

A recent Michigan Supreme Court advisory opinion stated that the no-fault law passed by the Legislature last year is constitutional. This cleared away the last legal road block to implementation of the new law.

Preparations are now under way by a number of organizations to provide for a smooth transition to the new form of insurance. A No-Fault Insurance Information Council has been established with its members appointed by the State Insurance Commissioner. The purpose of this Council will be to provide information to the media on all aspects of the new law.

The Council is currently in the process of developing informational packets to be distributed to newspapers, radio and tv stations that will include brochures explaining the new law, tv and radio spots and other information on no-fault. This program will be financed by the 283 auto insurance companies in Michigan.

Will receive letters

In addition to this, every insured driver in the state will receive a letter from his or her insurance company explaining what type of policy will be offered by that company, the kinds of options that will be available, approximate cost and other important information.

The Secretary of State's department will also be sending out a one page informational leaflet with their annual mailing of vehicle registration applications. These leaflets stress the fact that all owners of cars, trucks and trailers must have no-fault insurance after October 1.

A special leaflet is being sent to those motorists who paid the $45 uninsured motorist fee when they last bought license plates warning them that under the new law, the $45 uninsured motorists fee will no longer be available as an alternative to buying auto insurance.

Several other organizations, including labor unions, consumer and business groups are also expected to put out informational materials designed to familiarize the public with the no-fault system of auto insurance.

Choosing insurance

Hopefully, with all this information about no-fault going around, every Michigan motorist should have enough information about the new law to make an intelligent decision when choosing their auto insurance policy.

However, to make sure that you get the correct information on no-fault, I'd like to take this opportunity provided by The Daily Eagle to explain the major aspects of the new law.

No-fault auto insurance is designed to provide faster, more equitable settlements to persons involved in an automobile accident. It will do this by having your insurance company provide you with a prompt financial settlement after you are involved in an accident, regardless of whose fault the accident was.

By eliminating the time involved in going to court to obtain a financial settlement (some court cases can drag on for two or three years before any settlement is made) no-fault will provide faster payment of claims.

A fair share

By eliminating the lawyer's fees and other court costs, no-fault will make sure that the claimant will get more of his or her financial settlement.

Specifically, the new law calls for unlimited medical and rehabilitation benefits, $1,000 funeral benefit, wage loss benefits equivalent to your regular salary minus 15 per cent (to make up for the fact that there is no income tax on insurance benefits) with a maximum of $1,000 a month for a total of three years; up to $20 per day for nonwage earner replacement services (like child care or housekeeping) for up to three years.

Insurance experts predict that the average persons insurance rates will stay about the same or decrease slightly. However, the average car owner will also receive an increase in benefits under no-fault.

King of Spades completes his last 'flight'

By MITCH KEHETIAN

The Associated Press dispatch said: "Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, a grade school dropout who survived dogfights with the Red Baron to become a World War I flying ace and the guiding genius behind Eastern Airlines, died today in Zurich, Switzerland."

Capt. Eddie died July 27, but his legend as America's "Ace of Aces" during the first world war will remain as the life story of a man of compassion toward his fellow man — including enemy German pilots he knocked out of the skies over France.

IN A POCKETBOOK version of his bestseller "Rickenbacker" story, the Ace said: "I experienced a sensation of actual pleasure when I saw my enemy bail out of his plane and float safely to earth. I never wanted to kill men, only to destroy machines. It seemed the enemy cared more for its men than our higher headquarters cared about ours."

In the Fawcett publication, Rickenbacker explains how American pilots died with their flaming machines because someone higher up in the command didn't think pilots were worth the cost to devise them small parachutes for their safety.

But his statement of wanting to destroy machines, not men — best depicts the character of the man called Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker.

He also writes about the exploits of the great Red Baron himself, Manfred von Richthofen. The Red Baron was credited with downing more than 80 French, British and American planes. On his try for No. 81, the German "Ace of Aces" was shot down.

IN ONE OF THE chapters, he writes: "Surrounded by three scarlet-nosed plans of the Red Baron, the heavens seemed quiver crowded with the three dancing Fokkers."

"After a time, an opportunity came to try to outrun them, and with the motor full open and the nose straight down, I looked back and saw them fading in my rear."

Rickenbacker got his lieutenant's commission after only 12 practice flights in the fragile Spads.

He shot down his first plane with a machine gun on April 29, 1918; while flying with the famed American 94th Hat-In-The-Ring Aero Pursuit Squadron.

AND AS HE MENTIONED in his book, there were no parachutes. The primitive propelled Spads had engines less sophisticated than the gasoline power mower in your garage.

Before the war ended, Rickenbacker blasted down 21 German planes and five observation balloons.

And on more than one occasion, Rickenbacker met the Red Baron head-on ... almost propeller to propeller.

Long after his airwar pursuit days, Rickenbacker showed he was equally adept at being successful in private enterprise — especially the guiding of Eastern Airlines.

FOR THOSE WHO REMEMBER the World War I era, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker was the epitome of every Walter Mitty's dream.

And those who recall the early days of our entry into World War II, they remember how Capt. Eddie and seven other men survived 24 days on a life craft in the Pacific after their B17 ran out of fuel on Oct. 21, 1942.

The year before his harrowing experience in the Pacific, the King of the Spads was critically injured when a passenger airliner crashed near Atlanta, Ga.

When found by rescue teams, he was still strapped to his mangled seat — and pinned under the body of a dead passenger.

RICKENBACKER'S DEATH closes the book on a career of excitement and danger that triggered the "Ace of Aces" to say in 1970: "I've cheated the old Grim Reaper seven times that I know of ..."

Now that Capt. Eddie has left us, the 471-page pocketbook on his life means much more. It's a story about a man of adventure who found pleasure in seeing his enemy float safely to earth. That's why old German pilots hold Rickenbacker in the same high esteem the famed Red Baron is revered.

Probing the shortage

State may regulate sale of gasoline

By WES THORP Lansing Bureau

LANSING — The skelton of a state plan to regulate the sale of gasoline is starting to emerge as complaints about gas shortage start to increase.

State legislators and other state officials have been blanketed with stories about how the alleged shortage is threatening to close down factories, hamper farming and reduce tourist travel.

The outline of the proposed measures for state involvement in the gas crisis came to light during the presentation of a report to the Michigan Public Service Commission (PSC) on how the gas shortage is going to effect the transportation of school kids in Macomb, Oakland and Wayne Counties.

PREPARED BY THE school superintendents in the three counties, the report was presented to PSC Commissioner William R. Ralls.

It gave statistical evidence on how gas supplies were being reduced and how gas prices were being increased to the school districts in the tri-county area.

Ralls expressed his displeasure of the situation which could eventually force school districts to cutback on their school bus programs.

FIRST, HE POINTED out that the PSC which regulates public utilities, has no jurisdiction over gasoline supplies.

However, Ralls described proposals which he told a delegation of superintendents would "help alleviate your problem."

Legislation is being considered by a Joint Senate-House Committee on the Fuel Shortage which he said "would prevent discriminatory pricing practices in the distribution and sale of gasoline and assign the PSC authority to regulate the pricing of gasoline."

If these proposals are approved by the legislature, then, according to Ralls, "the state through the commission would have the power to examine and correct excessive and discriminatory gasoline prices such as may be occurring in the Tri-County areas."

RALLS PROPOSED that a further action be taken, the establishment of a permanent authority to regulate the gasoline industry.

He mentioned a proposal being considered in Wisconsin which authorizes their public service commission to:

—Establish a system of certification for fuel suppliers.

—Require full information by suppliers on their sources of supply.

—Declare the existence of emergency situations in regard to fuel supply and to take any actions, including mandatory allocation of fuels, necessary to alleviate fuel supply shortages.

Already in existence is a Fuels Task Force which is headed by State Commerce Director Richard Helmbrecht.

THE TASK FORCE which was appointed by Gov. William G. Milliken is charged with the responsibility of monitoring Michigan's fuel supply and demand.

It is also authorized to work with the petroleum industry to coordinate the allocation of gasoline supplies to meet fuel needs and to make recommendations to Milliken for further action.

Whatever is done, Ralls promised that the PSC "will be working with the other governmental efforts to develop a state energy policy."

Balloons are fun, educational

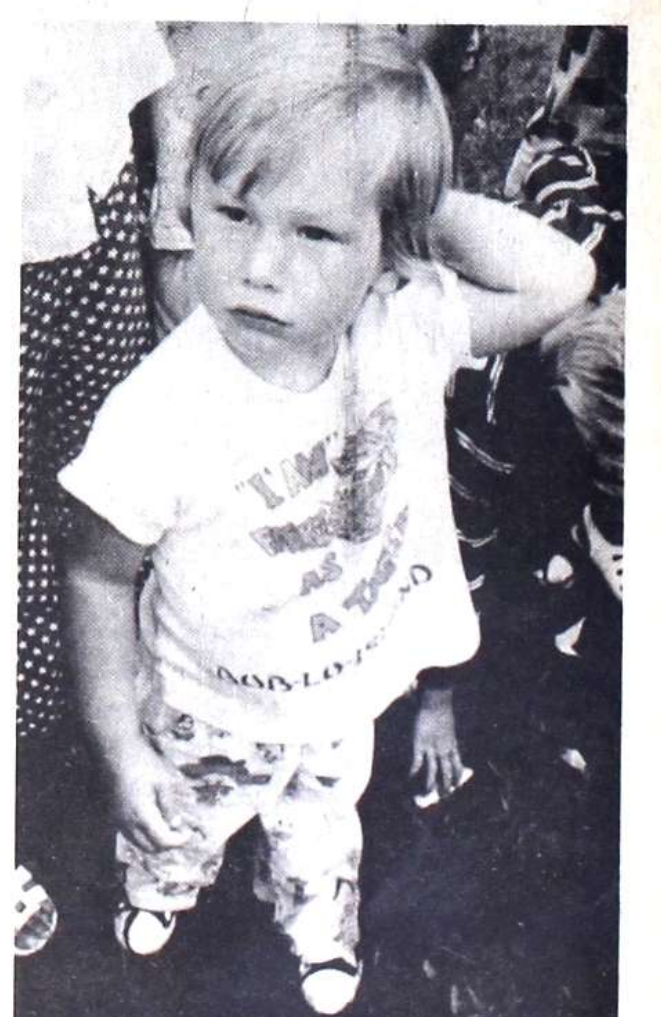

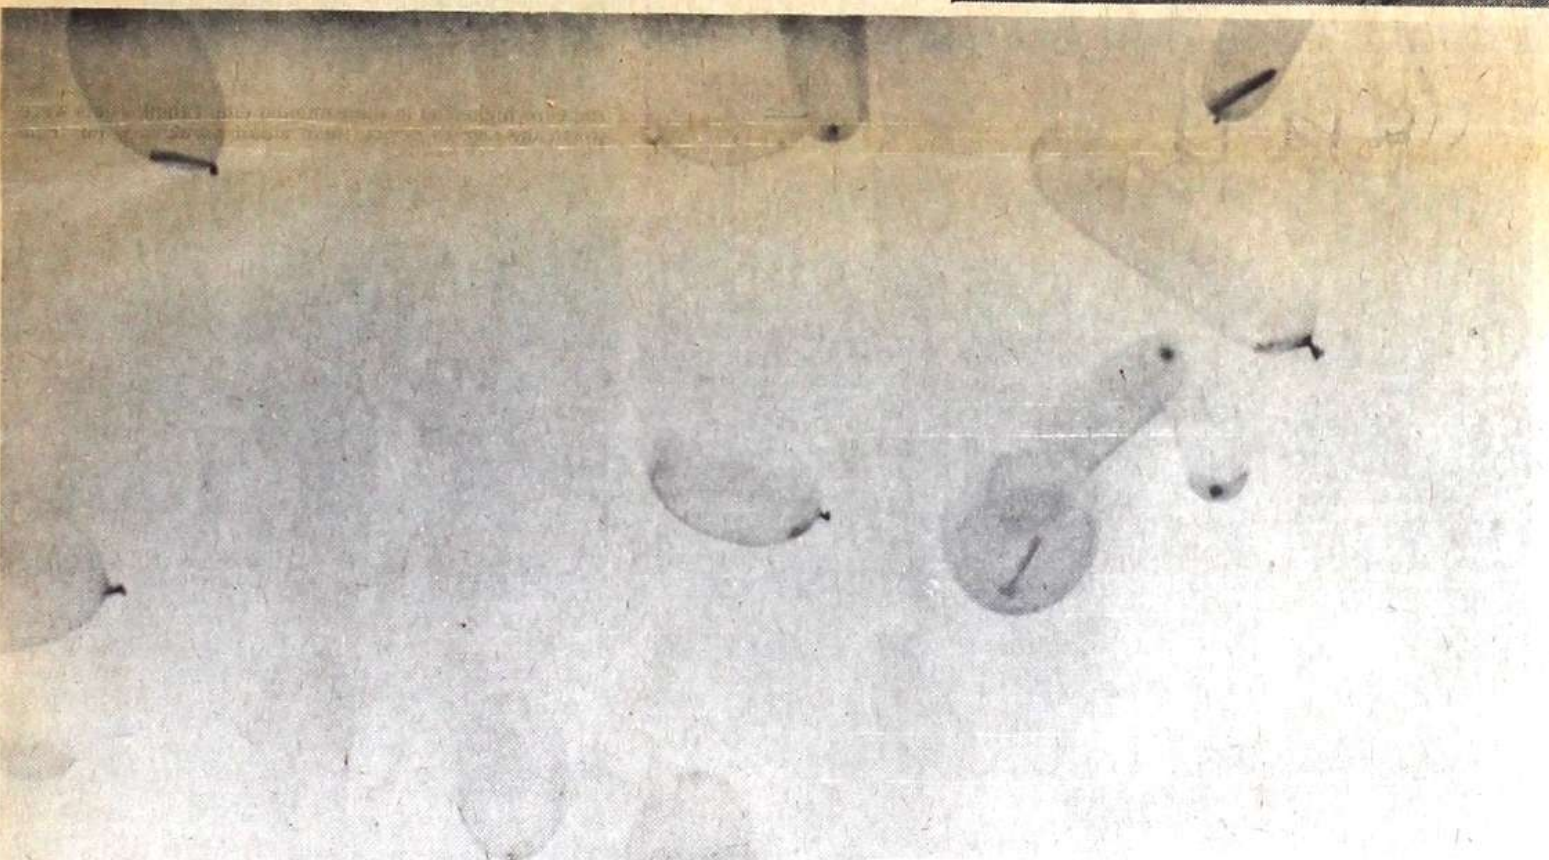

The children first played with note-filled balloons...

'FILL MY BALLOON NEXT' — Little Sean Pennington just can't wait till Bill Raech, a coordinator for the Romulus Recreation Summer Program, fills his balloon so he can sail a message into the sky. Little Sean is one of the more than 100 area residents who participated in the program which sent message-filled balloons up and away. Program coordinators hope anyone who finds a balloon would write a message saying where they found it and send it to the recreation department. Aside from being a fun day for the children, they also will learn about distances. Balloon landing points will be marked on a map at the rec department.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

A fellow was talking the other day about his way of living. He was telling, actually bragging, about his experiences with "quite a gal". The young lady has no sense of morals; never mentions the word or gives it a thought. They live with each other. They coddle and cuddle every day. She is wild about him and he is crazy about her. In hardly no time at all, she discovered how she could twist him around her little finger. He likes it, and that is putting it mildly.

There is nothing strange about this at all. His experiences, his way of living, is a natural way of living. It happens regularly and everywhere. And thank goodness it does... Do you doubt or dispute this? Don't. Ask any Daddy to tell you about his 2 or 3 year old baby daughter. He will tell you how true it is, just as this man did... (Incidentally, the twist of this little story shows how easy it is at times to form a quick, mistaken impression, a wrong conclusion - before ALL the facts are known.)

Famed beverage doubles as warm weather dessert

A delightful summer drink that can also double for dessert is the shrub, a 19th century concoction that won plaudits from author William Makepeace Thackeray.

This union of sweetened fruit juices and wine or liquors cooling, not filling and easy to make. It also is an excellent refresher to mix for yourself on the spur of the moment or to prepare in advance for a party. In fact the concoction that earned Thackeray's endorsement as "the best drink that ever was," should draw compliments from 20th century sippers.

In the early days shrub was aged in glass or wood containers, then strained and served on festive occasions. In this era, before modern refrigeration, one of the advantages of shrub as a punch was that it kept well the year round because of its alcohol content.

An 1831 cookbook published in Virginia promised that its cherry shrub "will keep all summer in a dry, cool place, and is delicious mixed with water."

There has been speculation that the name shrub indicated that the drink was first consumed at garden parties or that the original fruit used was grown on the bush. But the

the early days it was often made with a rum base. An 1836 recipe for shrub declared "the shrub is indifferent unless the rum is good."

In making shrub, one should pre-chill as many of the ingredients as possible. Put the fruit of your choice through a blender or juicer. If a blender is used, strain the juice to remove all solid fibers. As a sweetener you can use a simple syrup, fruit jellies or bottled syrups. Or you can drain the juice from frozen or canned fruits, if the flavor is compatible with the fresh fruit used. The ripeness of the fruit will determine the amount of sweetener that should be added.

Shrub should be served in a chilled pitcher, carafe or large brandy inhaler. Smother the drink in crushed ice like a mint julep. Clear glass shows off the bright hues of the strawberry, grape, plum, cherry or other fruit juices, used. To round out the drink, fill each individual glass with carbonated water or champagne, also icy cold. Garnish the creation with mint sprigs, whole berries or fruit slices that go well with the drink.

Here is a shrub recipe that should brighten a drowsy summer afternoon:

RASPBERRY SHRUB

3 cups fresh raspberries, 1 cup raspberry jelly, 8 ounces raspberry liquor, 6 ounces cognac 6 ounces benedictine and brandy. Juice of 3 lemons. Remove stems from the fresh raspberries, put through blender with the jelly and strain. Return to blender, add other ingredients and blend well. Pour into large container and refrigerate until ready to serve. After pouring into individual glasses, add champagne at last minute to taste. Garnish with unstemmed raspberries. Serves 10 to 12 person

Riggs 100th reunion 'showered' with sunshine and 150 smiles

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

auto from California, Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, New York, and Canada.

Descendants of Peter and Harriet Riggs, about 150 in all, gathered en masse Sunday, July 29, for the biggest reunion of them all — their 100th!

It was at Lakeside Park in Ypsilanti Township that the gathering of the clan took place and where some relatives met for the first time. Arriving from all parts of Michigan, including the Upper Peninsula, family members also came by plane, bus and Carrying out a tradition which had its beginnings on New Year's Day, 1873, the group was brought to order by president Glenn Romine of Fort Wayne, Indiana. Election of officers resulted in Mrs. Jack Willoughby of Ypsilanti (the former Marian Riggs) being named president; Henry Deering of Belleville, vice-president; and Mrs. Richard Hamilton (the former Rachel Riggs), secretary-treasurer.

MRS. HELEN RIGGS, 88, widow of Elmer Riggs and the eldest member of the clan, attended despite the fact she's convalescing from a broken hip. She still resides in the Haggerty Road homestead established by her husband's father, William Riggs. She shares her home with her granddaughter, Marilyn Herkimer Watson, her husband, Bill, and their lively little son, Jimmie, who's nine months old.

Recorded as the youngest in attendance was four-months old Robert Joseph Belinski, son of Ted and Virginia Belinski of Belleville. Of special interest to the group, especially to those who were attending their very first reunion, were the books and photographs of family history compiled by Mrs. Henry (Esther) Deering who delved into the archives of the Burton Historical Society to get her information.

THE PRESIDENT, Glenn Romine, also added a few extra touches to the big day by providing placards bearing the names of each of the 10 children of Peter and Harriet — Cynthia, Dunham, Gilbert, Loren, Sarah, Hiram, Harriet, Esther Ann, William, and Emeline. The colorfully-painted plywood signs were positioned over groups of tables and the descendants of each person were asked to sit in those particular spots.

He also took the time to make badges for anyone who had held an office in the 100 years of reunionhood with an eye-catching gold color for those bearing the name of 'Riggs'. The Romine name, incidentally, probably has a familiar ring to it for many residents of this area. And, yes, Romine Road near New Boston does have a link with his heritage since it was for his grandparents, Nicholas and Esther Ann Riggs Romine that the road was named.

And so it was — that after months and months of preparation (including a mini-reunion of planners at the Deering's Belleville home one week-end in May) — the centennial reunion of the Riggs family came to be.

And, so it was, too, that the weatherman decided to cooperate by doing a complete about-face from the wet, soggy days of the week before. Butting the day with sunshine, he, too, went down in the family history as perhaps 'the' most important part of the day.

All Around the Town

...with Lee

Kelly Aaron is third for Kirby Wilsons

KELLY AARON is the newest addition to the household at 42672 Huron River Drive, Belleville — the home of the Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Wilson III. The River Rouge attorney and his wife welcomed their third son July 9 at Wyandotte General Hospital.

Born with a respiratory problem, the 7 lb. - 1 oz. infant spent five days at Children's Hospital before being returned to the Wyandotte complex (and this, Mrs. W. tells us, is a 'first' since a baby rarely returns in time to depart with his mother.)

But all's well now and Kelly (who arrived on his Aunt Kathy Lipinski's birthday) is home and being spoiled by his two big brothers, Kirby IV and Kraig, five.

The newcomer is the ninth grandchild for Mrs. Jeane Wilson of Belleville and the seventh for the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Neefer of Trenton.

Here 'n there . . . around the town

AREA RESIDENTS have scattered far and wide over the summer months with the current crop of travelers finding their way 'home' after fun and relaxation. Among those heading southward were the Richard J. Zavodsky family of Whitehorn, Romulus. They included on their itinerary a visit to Forbidden Caverns, a short pleasant, scenic drive from Gatlinburg, Tennessee, where they viewed some of the most spectacular formations in America. THE JONES FAMILY of Belleville and that includes Jerry, Anita and their two boys, Kevin and Keith, spent a week-long vacation at Houghton Lake where they shared a large four-bedroom cabin with friends from Livonia, Dale and Ginger Schanker, and their sons, Larry, Pat and Bruce. ROGER AND AILEEN Allyn of Belleville drove to Adrian Friday afternoon, picked up his brother and sister-in-law, Rodney and Carol Allyn (who left their two sons in the hands of their grandmother) and continued northward to Glen Lake. There they were cottage guests of former high school classmates of the men, John and Karen Howe of Detroit.

Sietz descendants hold 16th reunion

MEETING FOR their 16th year, descendants of the late William and Josephine Sietz sat down to a one o'clock dinner Sunday, July 29, at Metro Park. Forty members of the clan and seven guests were present for the occasion which included a business meeting conducted by president Mary Bokan of Belleville.

Rosemary Sietz of Dexter presented the secretary's report as well as a short resume of the family's 1972-73 activities. Leonard Hudge (who was here from Tarpon Springs, Florida with his wife, Julianna) took honors for being eldest present while two-year old Billie Lewis, son of Jim and Barbara Lewis of Belleville, was youngest.

Mary and Kathy Bokan took charge of games for both the adults and younger set. Grace Hudge won the door prize in the annual guessing game contest with Barb Lewis and Sherie Hudge sharing first place in another game.

And, in keeping with tradition, the group placed its predictions as to the arrival date and sex of the Bill Emerson's expected heir. They also placed their quarters in the 'tot-pot' which will go to the person with the 'best crystal ball' sometime this month.

Bits and pieces . . . news in the area

ANN PAAS and Sue Smith left Ann Arbor by train last Thursday morning and traveled to Kalamazoo for the weekend. There they were guests of the latter's sister, Luanne Smith, at Severn Hall on the campus of Kalamazoo College. ENTERTAINING HOUSEGUESTS all last week, the Robert Clements family of Romulus said good-bye Sunday to his brother and sister-in-law, Tom and Judy Clements of Roanoke, Virginia. With their twin daughters, Shelley and Shari, the latter couple arrived in time to attend the Clements family reunion held at Cass Benton Park on the 29th. They also enjoyed a picnic and afternoon at the Detroit Zoo with their hosts as well as a visit to Greenfield Village during the week. SUZANNE JOHNSON, the Richard Johnson's 13-year old daughter, is home after spending three weeks in Aurora, Illinois with her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hayward Keim.

'Grub look' losing popularity at EMU

The 'Super Grub Look' of faded Levis and old flannel work shirts is losing its popularity and is being replaced by the 'Early 1900's Look' in college classrooms.

This is an analysis of fall campus fashions by Betty Bornemeier and Joy Hansen, clothing specialists in the Eastern Michigan University home economics department.

"The 'Grub Look' will never be completely replaced," said Mrs. Bornemeier, "but more students will dress up for class and the girls will wear more feminine clothing."

"The change will be most evident with the girls," Mrs. Hansen predicted. "They will wear coordinated outfits like full-legged pants and matching jackets. Long dresses may even return but the shorter skirt should remain popular. Male fashions will also be more coordinated."

The 'Early 1900's Look' is also called the 'Soft' or 'Romantic Look'. It consists of soft, easy-care fabrics for both men and women. There will be lace and ruffles for women and pastel colors for men. The style is influenced by the first three decades of the century.

WHATEVER THE style, freshmen will spend much less time and money preparing a college wardrobe than the student in the 1950's did, according to the EMU specialists.

It was not unusual for a student from a middle-income family to spend $600 in clothing for the first year of college. Expensive lists were compiled for a complete change in wardrobe.

"The freshman in the 1970's has a much better idea of what to expect in all areas of college life including clothing," Mrs. Bornemeier said. "He can wear what he wore in high school. There is much more freedom and less emphasis on money in clothing today." Functional clothing that is easy to care for and comfortable rule the selections of today's student. Budget lists are not needed as the Army Surplus outlet may attract as many student shoppers as an exclusive clothing store.

The winner coat is probably the biggest investment a student will make. Few students will buy formal clothes.

"There is no real need for formal clothing in school," Mrs. Hansen said. "Not one student in my clothing construction class last year had a dress at school. They left them at home. Casual wear was all they ever needed."

The specialists agree that there will be fads in fashion like 'hot pants' but that the student will not let fashion 'experts' dictate clothing styles and will select clothes for self-expression.

Health vs. natural

Surprisingly, a patron of a health foods establishment would be out of his element in a natural foods store. Health foods stores generally employ older ladies, dressed in white uniforms, whose main concern in the sterile surroundings is the customer's physical well-being.

Whereas, employees of natural food stores not only cater to the customer's appetite for organic edibles, but they also feed the souls of the supermarket counter-culture with relaxed chatter in the homey, atmosphere of a usually disorganized shop.

Plans hepatitis control

Rep seeks blood bank ban

Legislation designed to curb the incidence of hepatitis resulting from blood transfusions was introduced recently in the state senate by Sen. William Faust, D-Westland.

"Thousands of people die each year from hepatitis after receiving transfusions of virus-tainted blood," Faust said.

Recent surveys also show that hepatitis in the blood of paid donors occurs in about 30 cases per 1,000 as compared to 3 cases per 1,000 among volunteers, according to Faust.

"In view of such statistics, I believe that my legislation to regulate the purchase of blood from a donor will provide needy Michigan users meaningful protection," he added.

Faust said that "commercial" blood is often obtained from alcoholics who sell their blood so that they can buy liquor.

"These men often live in the most unsanitary conditions and are quite likely to transmit infections," Faust said. "This problem might not be so severe if we had an adequate test to determine good and bad blood," Faust said, "but even the most accepted test will at best miss 75 per cent of the cases where blood is in fact contaminated."

While most people are highly particular in selecting their doctor, Faust said that few people are aware of the risks involved in the blood transfusions.

"When a person is sick, he expects to get better through treatment. Few patients suspect that they may be exposed to the dangers of another disease," Faust said.

The Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, Georgia estimated that hepatitis resulting from transfusions account for some 3,500 deaths a year, although many doctors believe the total is closer to 35,000.

"Regardless of which figure is correct, the conclusion is obvious," said Faust. "Action must be taken immediately to reduce this health menace."

On President

Belleville doctor studies autopsy

A Belleville physician is the third non-governmental doctor to study the autopsy performed on President John F. Kennedy since the evidence was placed in the National Archives in Washington, D.C. in 1966.

Dr. E. Forrest Chapman of Huron River Drive, who has offices on Bibbins St., in Romulus, recently returned from Washington where he studied the X-rays and photographs.

He said a study made of the X-rays and photographs suggest there was more than one gunman involved in the President's death. Chapman also is a deputy Wayne County Medical Examiner.

The photographs were made available to interested specialists in October, 1971.

CHAPMAN said Monday that he agrees with the conclusion reached last August by Pittsburgh Coroner Dr. Cyril Wecht.

Dr. Wecht, who is coroner for Pittsburgh and Allegheny County, was the first critic of the Warren Commission's report on the assassination to be allowed to see the autopsy photos.

Those conclusions suggest that a second person besides Lee Harvey Oswald was shooting at the President, Wecht said.

The Warren Commission concluded after its investigation that the bullet which struck the President in the neck was the one which hit former Texas Gov. John Connally, who was sitting next to Kennedy.

CHAPMAN AND Wecht both say the angle of the bullet's path through Kennedy's neck made it unlikely it also could have struck the governor. Both doctors said the bullet, which was recovered in almost perfect condition, would have been much more severely damaged had it hit both men.

Chapman also said movie film of the shooting shows Connally reacting to his wound 11 frames less than a second after the President reacted.

Chapman added that if it had been the same bullet both men would have reacted almost simultaneously.

BET HE SELLS FOR A HIGH PRICE — This surly-faced porker won first place in last year's Wayne County 4-H Fair. This year fairgoers may be looking hungrily at the porkers, envisioning sweet thoughts of bacon and pork roast. With the high price of meat these days, the porkers will probably command a much higher fee than last year. Officials predict a larger number of farm livestock will enter the 1973 fair that opens Aug. 14 and runs through Aug. 19 near Belleville.

Polka bands highlight weekend ethnic fest

The city's second largest ethnic group — the Poles — will have the largest ever-front Ethnic Festival ever, Friday through Sunday.

The Polish Festival will be set up in three separate components — each one having a stage with continuous entertainment, food booths and handicraft displays.

"The three-way division will enable more people to take advantage of our Festival, and should help alleviate the problem of overcrowding," said co-chairman Fr. Joseph Kubik.

THERE WILL be 91 booths stretching the entire length of the riverfront at Cobo Hall. Many will be food booths filled with such popular Polish delicacies as pierogi (stuffed with cheese, cabbage and potatoes), kielbasa, sauerkraut, kielbasa, Polish ham, flaczki (tripe with sauerkraut), sausages and pastrami.

Traditional Polish crafts — woodcarving, fabric cut-outs, doll costume designing and painting on glass — will be shown.

The Polish festival will also highlight the Jerry Robotka Orchestra to strum up plenty of polka contests for young and old, a series of dance ensembles, a queen contest, sing-a-long sessions, and fashion shows of regional Polish costumes, with the appropriate regional music as a background.

Mass will begin each day, with various Polish priests conducting the ceremonies. VARIOUS other bands, including the "Motor City Polka Jacks" the Brass Wind Orchestra from University of Michigan, the Sparks of Fire Orchestra and the Big Daddy Lackowski Band will entertain the crowds.

Dance teams include the Wavel Dance Ensemble, the Toledo dance group, the Alliance of Polish Dancers, the Wisla dancers and the Lowicz Dancers.

A special feature on Sunday afternoon will be a symphony champagne concert conducted by John Gajac, dedicated to Copernicus. Renaissance music and Polish composers will be featured. There will be an astrological ballet, and soloists Frank Nezwazky, Halina Lis and Carol Topolisky.

Hours of the festival are 5 to 11 p.m. Friday and noon to 11 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Admission is free to all events and entertainment, with the exception of the Redford Symphony champagne concert.

Village restores yesteryear days

At Greenfield Village, the outdoor museum of Americana in Dearborn created by auto pioneer Henry Ford, the days of yesteryear live once again the year around. But each season has a special appeal, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Autumn's riot of color and winter-tinted breezes add poignancy to the Village's portrayal of America's history, while the fresh greenery and bursting buds of spring underscore the link between the promise of future and the lessons of the past.

Winter brings a white, spectacular mantle, Christmas and all the bright, lasting memories of childhood mixed with the recollections of bleak pioneer winters.

BUT SUMMER — perhaps more than any season — recreates the sights and sounds of bygone eras to assail visitors with the lively bustle of the past.

American history comes to life at Greenfield Village in myriad ways during the Old Time Summer Festival, which began in July and continues through Labor Day.

It lives in the muffled creak of a carriage and harness blending with the rhythmic beat of horses hooves on a cobbled street. It lives in the almost-forgotten wail of an ancient steam locomotive whistle and its clanging bell, which contrasts with the cheerful toot of the stern-wheeler Suwanee, longtime Village favorite.

Most of all, it lives in the recreations of scenes from out of the past by the Greenfield Village Players.

IN THE Town Hall on the Village Green, the Players present "Gaslight Melodies," a musical revue featuring popular songs and skits from the turn of the century performed in the manner of the period.

GRAND STAND PERFORMERS — Members of various area 4-H Riding clubs will trot to the Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds to participate in horse exhibitions and riding contests. The six-day Wayne County 4-H Fair opens Aug. 14 at the Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds, located on Quirk Road, north of I-94 Expressway and west of Belleville.

Beach day slated for area youths

A day of swimming, ball playing and relay races will be held tomorrow for children who participated in the Romulus Parks and Recreation Program.

Area children will have a chance to pit their skills against other children from eight participating playgrounds.

The all-day event will start at 8:15 a.m. when school buses will pick up children at each playground and take them to Huron Metropolitan Park. The children will return to their playgrounds at 2 p.m.

The event marks the completion of the summer recreation program which included plays, art and crafts, sporting competitions and other activities to keep the summer lively for the children.

Their art work is on display today at the Romulus Public Library.

The event is free to all children who attended at least one day of the summer program.

Parents urged

Protect children by labeling drugs

Failure of adults to protect children against the obvious dangers of drugs and chemicals is a serious problem, warns Dr. Warren C. Jenkins, medical director of the Allstate Life Insurance Company, adding that hundreds of children under the age of 5 die each year from poisoning.

Dr. Jenkins urges parents to follow these rules to help prevent their children from becoming poisoned.

- Keep all drugs and medicines far out of the reach of children — preferably

- under lock and key.
- Label all containers. Mark prescriptions with date, dosage and the patient's name.
- Do not keep cleaners and other toxic chemicals in the medicine cabinet.

- Pour down the drain all old or unlabeled medicines. Never throw them in a waste-basket.
- Before giving or taking any drug, read the label in a good light.

- Paste the day and night phone numbers of your physician and druggist inside the medicine cabinet door.
- Never tell children that aspirin is "candy". Large dosages of aspirin, taken secretly by children who think it's candy, can be deadly.

Mahalak to serve on road committee

State Representative Edward E. Mahalak (D-38th District) a member of the House Committee on Public Safety, has been appointed to a special subcommittee that will study road hazards.

After conducting its investigations the subcommittee will make recommendations to the full public safety committee for future legislation, Mahalak said.

may be many ways that we could make our highways and roads safer and thus help to prevent accidents. The subcommittee will look into all of this, make investigations, talk to police officials, safety experts, highway engineers and anyone else who can help. We hope to come up with some solid recommendations for legislation that will make Michigan roads less hazardous."

Mahalak's appointment to the special four-man committee was announced by Rep. Jelt Sietsema D-Grand Rapids, public safety committee chairman. "Rep. Mahalak," Sietsema said, "has been a valuable member of the public safety committee and I know that we can rely on him to continue his contributions in this in-depth study of a serious statewide problem."

"It will be the purpose of this study," Mahalak said, "to determine in what areas the legislature can reduce the carnage on Michigan highways, roads and streets. Each year we have a senseless waste of life, thousands and thousands of injuries and millions of dollars in property damage."

"Much of this is due to the human element, but there

Appointed to the subcommittee with Mahalak were Representatives Michael J. Griffin, D-Jackson, Quincy Hoffman R-Applegate and Sietsema.

READY TO HELP — Got a problem? If you need to "rap" with someone about a problem — drugs, sex, insecurity — you'll find trained counselors ready and willing to listen at the Number - 699-2039, in Belleville. Mary Gilliam, of Belleville, is one of 10 counselors who received intensive training in how to answer callers' problems. She and other phone operators will be manning the lines from 4 p.m. to midnight Monday through Thursday and 4 p.m. to 4 a.m. Friday through Sunday. The Belleville crisis-counseling service opens today.

Musical talents sought

The Van Buren Recreation Department is planning an adult instrumental band as part of the 1972 winter's recreation program.

The proposed adult instrumental band will give persons 18 years of age and older an opportunity to develop their musical talents. Loyd feels that many persons in the township who have taken instrumental music during high school days and apparently laid aside their musical instruments will again have a chance to become members of a musical group.

The recreation director said the recreation department's physical fitness program is a continuing program and urge residents who presently are not in the program to join.

Physical fitness classes are conducted at 7 p.m. in the Belleville High School gymnasium Monday through Thursday. This program will continue through Sept. 27.

Babysitting is available during the evening program for a nominal charge.

Watergate revelations shocking, valid concerns

By THEODORE F. KUCKELMAN, Belleville Chamber of Commerce

"This is no time to become cynical." We in the business community need to maintain a wholesome perspective and positive attitude with respect to the Watergate revelations. They are shocking of course. Much is being said about the effect on the ability of the President to govern effectively, and the slowing down of government machinery. These are valid concerns.

Over 50 governmental officials have been connected with the break-in of the Democratic headquarters in the Watergate complex in Washington D.C., including some of President Nixon's closest advisers. A U.S. Senate committee and a grand jury are investigating the charges and reports of the Watergate incident.

IF THE WATERGATE scandals reveal weaknesses in our popular government, they also reveal its chief strength: The built-in correction mechanism of our separation of powers. No other system has it. Our political system can meet this crisis, as it has many others. This is no time to become cynical. Much good may come of Watergate. Historically, curative action has followed revelation of our faults.

Government must go on. In world affairs, we must maintain our leadership and our security.

AT HOME! there are many challenges beginning for imaginative solutions which the enterprise system can provide in a conducive climate.

The administration must not let Watergate dilute its effort to provide good management and seek sound approaches to national and community problems.

We the people must not let Watergate undermine the first real opportunity to modernize our government and improve control of spending and management of our federal government.

We in business must rededicate ourselves to participate constructively in the political process. With respect to persons affected by the scandals, all of us must determine to keep an open mind until all of the evidence is in.

PITY THE UMPIRE—This play at the plate in the Romulus Men's Slow-Pitch 'A' League is so close that even the umpire will have trouble calling it. He did make a decision, however, and called the runner, Morgan Manor's Wilson Boone, safe.

Boone lunges for the plate and steps on it a split second before Carpentry by Woodcraft catcher Earl Champagne makes the tag. Morgan Manor easily won the game, 13-5.

Polka Dot paces 'B'

Huron Valley strides closer to Romulus title

Huron Valley Steel took another stride toward the Romulus Men's A League softball title last week with a 12-2 victory over Traffic Transport.

Rich Kokila tossed the victory, his 13th triumph against one loss. Don Twitchell tripled and singled twice for Huron, and teammates Londie Parker, Richard Spearman, Bob Eggers and Darwin Wessel rapped out a pair of hits apiece.

Polka Dot Party Store, leaders in the B League, recorded a victory to keep a single pace ahead of Morgan Manor, which also won.

Polka Dot didn't have to work for its win, however, taking a forfeit decision from Landing Strip Lounge. Morgan Manor belted Carpentry by Woodcraft, 13-5.

Romulus Hardware utilized 21 hits to romp past Walter's Bar, 14-4. Roy Szyndler, Gary Stewart and Pat Tutas had three hits each and Chris Glinski the only home run for the winners. John Poet allowed Walter's seven hits in his eighth inning to outlast Beck-Howell Carpets, 7-6. Paul Finch singled, moved to third on an error and scored on Larry Johnson's single. Tim Osmund sizzled with four hits for NAPA and Larry Johnson had three. Hugh Miller led Beck-Howell with four hits.

Tennis tournaments slated

The Romulus Recreation Department will hold an Open Tennis Tournament Aug. 11-12, for the following classes: Boy's singles & doubles (under age 16), Girl's singles & doubles (age 16 & over), Men's singles & doubles (age 16 & over), Women's singles & doubles (age 16 & over). The registration fee will be $2.00 for non-residents and $1.50 for Romulus residents. For information on registration and starting time, contact the Romulus Recreation Department at 941-3337 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Mondays - Fridays.

Romulus Hardware recorded its second victory of the week at the expense of Romulus Press Repair, 15-3. Charles Stewart and Ed Labato hit safely four times in a 19-hit attack. Labato also stoked a home run.

Keith McArthur pitched Hal's Market to a pair of wins, over Walter's Bar, 10-9, and Traffic Transport, 12-2. The pair of wins vaulted Hal's into third place ahead of Walter's.

Joe Starr was the winning hurler and Paul DeBuyscher boomed a two-run homer as Romulus Welding posted a 12-5 win over Landing Strip Lounge.

Playoffs loom in Belleville league

The curtain is down and the music over, and all that's left in the Belleville Softball League now are the formidable playoffs.

Blue Boar Inn hiked its once-blemished record to 19-1 with a double final whipping of P.L.A.V., 9-1 and 12-1. And ironically, those same two teams clash in the first round of the playoffs.

Second place Belleville Teachers recorded a disappointing 2-2 week, but nonetheless edged P.L.A.V. for the runner-up position at 16-4. Teachers began the week with a 5-0 loss, then won two straight — over P.L.A.V., 15-5, and Belleville JayCees, 7-6 — before dropping their final test to the JayCees, 8-0.

P.L.A.V.'s three game skid cost it second place, finishing at 15-5, just one game behind Teachers.

Bats are a-booming

The power hitting of Tareia Gary and Vickie Gray rocketed Kid Power to a 12-8 victory over the Ms. Fits in the Romulus Women's slow-pitch league in action last week.

Each had three hits and a home run off losing pitcher Sharon Howie, and Joyce Gray donated a homer also. For the Ms. Fits, Anne Szyndler, Patty Worden and Haron Howie belted a trio of hits and Pat Maciejewski and Jeannie Neidermyer stroked two apiece.

DEBBIE AND Sherry Wilcox streaked to 5-for-5 performances as the Odd Squad muscled its way past the Diamonds, 20-3. Debbie ripped three triples and two singles for four RBI's, and scored five runs.

Bert Sterling, Pat Halcomb, Pat Propts and Jennie Wilcox knocked out four hits for the winners.

Cheryl Wedyke and Donna Obdziejewski singled three

Letters awarded

Seventeen members of Wayne State University's 1973 indoor and outdoor track teams have been named to receive post-season awards according to Athletic Coordinator Vernon K. Gale.

The list includes 14 varsity letter awards and three freshman numeral awards.

Coach Dan Watkins' team had an 0-2 dual meet record indoors and was 1-2 outdoors before beginning a heavy schedule times for the Diamonds, and Maragret Ayers, Jean Hoffman and Marilyn Leppen had two hits.

The City Hall Gals blew past the Roadrunners, 17-3, on the strength of balanced hitting. Joanne Hopson, Sylvia Dubisky, Angie Hicks, Sue Stakley and Rose Booth ripped four hits each for City Hall Gals, and Diane Summerfield had three.

SOME FRIENDLY ADVICE—In essence, that's what Woodcraft's Don Peterlin is getting from his third base coach as he slides into the bag. The coaching strategy—and Peterlin's baserunning—was too much for Morgan Manor's third sacker, Pete Molnar (partially hidden), who could make no play on Peterlin. Morgan Manor won the Romulus Men's League game anyway.

Kaline will assist 'Cash Day' set for Sunday

DETROIT — In the past two decades, only two players have basked in the glory of special days at Tiger Stadium. Both of them will participate in Norm Cash Day on Sunday, August 12.

One, of course, is Cash, the veteran first baseman who will be saluted by fans, baseball figures and media representatives in a 1:00 p.m. ceremony which precedes the Tigers' single game with the Chicago White Sox.

The other is Al Kaline, who was accorded a similar salute in 1970 and who asked to make a presentation to Cash on behalf of the present Tiger players. Cash and Kaline have been teammates since 1960, when Cash first arrived on the Tiger Stadium scene to start compiling his impressive record as a slugger.

Fans wishing to honor Cash have been requested by him to make their gifts in the form of contributions to the Police Athletic League for the support of youth sports programs. The contributions, which are tax deductible, can be mailed to: Norm Cash Day, P.O. Box 1692, Detroit, Michigan 48231.

DETROIT — Household sports names of the 1960's have been the likes of Mark Spitz, Debbie Meyer, Don Schollander, Bill Toomey, and Wilma Rudolph among others.

Where did they get their competitive athletic starts on the way to Olympic fame?

The National A.A.U. Junior Olympic Program, that's where.

MORE ATHLETES of that caliber may be getting their start in 1973 at the Seventh Annual National A.A.U. Junior Olympic Championships Aug. 14-16 at the University of Michigan, conducted by the Michigan A.A.U. and co-sponsored by the National A.A.U. and Chevrolet Motor Division.

Upwards of 700 athletes in the 10-18 age ranges—boys and girls—will be competing on Wednesday and Thursday in six sports. The list of sports includes diving, gymnastics, judo, swimming, track and field, and trampoline.

Opening ceremonies for the events will be at 7 p.m. on Aug. 14 in Crisler Arena on the U-M campus. Competition over the next two days will be held over Ferry Field's new Tarten Track, Crisler Arena, and Fuller Municipal Pool. While there is no admission charge for the Opening Ceremonies, there are charges for the 10 trials and eliminations being contested. All-Event tickets are available at $5.00, with single event adult tickets priced at $1.00 and student tickets (under 18) set at 50 cents. Ticket information may be obtained at U-M Athletic Ticket Office or the Michigan A.A.U. Central Office. (864-9464).

THE A.A.U. JUNIOR Olympic Program has been in effect since 1949 and now involves millions of youngsters in 14 sports from ages six through 18.

Aid to junior colleges increases with new law

Area community colleges, along with colleges throughout the state will receive additional funding as a result of a measure signed into law by Gov. William G. Milliken.

Milliken said last week that he had signed the measure, the first to be approved out of the $2.7 billion budget passed by the legislature July 25 and sent to his desk.

The appropriation of $65,873,200 for all community colleges is more than a 14 per cent increase over last year's funding of nearly $59 million, the governor said.

clude Henry Ford Community College, $4,395,300; Schoolcraft College, $2,762,700 and Wayne County Community College, $5,437,600.

Alaskan scouts visit Belleville

Sixteen members of Boy Scout Troop 129 of the Western Alaska Council, Anchorage, Alaska, were recent visitors to the Belleville area.

The scouts stopped off at the city of Belleville on the long trip from Alaska to Butler, Pa., where they will participate in the World Jamboree of the Boy Scouts. Belleville Scout Leader Joseph Talaga made arrangements for their stay in the city.

They arrived in Belleville July 30, toured the Ford Rouge Plant and Henry Ford Museum on July 31 and departed on Aug. 1 for Pittsburgh, Pa., then on to Butler, Pa. The troop had wanted to tour Ford's Wayne Assembly Plant but arrangements could not be made in time.

The scouts flew from Anchorage to Washington, D.C. where they rented cars and toured Washington and New York City, where they stayed at West Point Academy in New York and then on to Boston, Rome, N.Y., Niagara Falls and then to Belleville.

They left Alaska on July 18 and are scheduled to return Aug. 11 covering the 2,000 miles by car.

Jaycees sponsor ed test

The Romulus Jaycees are urging all area residents who have not received a high school diploma to earn an equivalency degree through the Romulus Adult Education Program.

The Jaycees urge all residents to take the General Educational Development (GED) test—a 10 hour examination which tests skills in english, mathematics, social studies, science and literature.

Passing grades on the GED test is the equivalent of a high school diploma.

Information on the program, and on continuing education, can be obtained by calling the Romulus Board of Education continuing education office at 941-1600.

The next GED test will be given in the late fall. Classes in the continuing education program will begin late this summer.

The Jaycees also urge residents who may have received their diploma to keep their skills sharp by participating in the district's continuing education program.

County to install speed signs

Speed limit signs will sprout up along Belleville and Morton-Taylor Roads to curtail traffic problems.

The Van Buren Township Board requested the Wayne County Road Commission to install "Speed Limit 25" signs along the roadways. No speed limit signs had previously been posted.

The road commission will erect four signs on each side of Robson Avenue.

BARGAINS GALORE — This year's annual sidewalk sale sponsored by the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce offered bargains galore for both young and old. Some of the area shoppers taking advantage of the many attractive items of merchandise are shown above. Sale officials reported that sidewalk sale campaign attracted unusually large crowds on both Friday and Saturday.

Sidewalk sale called success

Belleville's annual Sidewalk Sales has been termed a "big success" by area officials.

The annual event was held on Friday and Saturday with ideal shopping weather prevailing throughout both sale days.

Crowds began to hit the various sidewalk exhibits loaded with bargains, bright and early.

Jim Springer, owner of Gamble's Department Store, and Darwin Kureth, owner of Kureth's Apparel Shop, both located on Main Street, were co-chairmen of this year's Sidewalk Sale Campaign, which was sponsored by the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce's Retail Merchants Committee.

Springer said that this year two-day sale event was greater "dollarwise" than previous years and most merchants reported brisk sales throughout both days.

SIDEWALK SALE'S FLEA MARKET — One of the many sidewalk sale concessions participating in this year's annual Sidewalk Sale in Belleville's downtown area was area's citizens sponsored Flea Market. The flea market in its second year reported sales higher than the previous year.

Seniors will travel to Niagra Falls, NY

The Belleville Senior Citizens Club will meet at the Edgemont Elementary School, 124 Edgemont St., Belleville beginning at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

The club is sponsoring two upcoming events for members. On Saturday, members will take a trip to Tiger Stadium to watch the Tigers play the Chicago White Sox. A trip to Niagara Falls is being planned for Aug. 15. The bus will leave the United Methodist Church of Belleville at 6:30 a.m. Members are asked to bring a lunch.

At the last meeting the following birthdays and anniversaries were celebrated by club members:

The birthdays were those of Harry Wilkerson, Alice Premeau, Helen Cullin, Charles Clark, Cora Bradshaw, Bedia Woods, Winifred Gault, Ruth Carter, Mabel Ridley, Betty Jenkins, Ollie Hunter, Teala Bomar, Myrtle Schaerer, David Criss, John

Gras, Ada Posthumus, Tim Posthumus and Elizabeth Leschinsky.

The anniversaries that were observed were those of Erwin and Alma Ball, George and Donna Bell Renton, James and Lucille Renton and Dick and Martha Coffelt.

Refreshments were served and games played. The group will continue to meet each Thursday at the elementary school.

Society renames Inkster Day Camp

In recognition and appreciation for his 26 years of continuous (volunteer) service and dedication, the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., has named its Inkster located day camp "Camp Ted Kuckelman."

The announcement honoring Kuckelman of Belleville, who recently celebrated his 85th birthday, party was made at the society's Inkster headquarters during a recent luncheon-tour honoring 20 Wayne County Rotary guests.

The celebration was a form of "thank you" to the Rotarians who have helped so much to make the day camp a rounding success.

Kuckelman present at the luncheon stood up and promised that he would "help for another 26 years for such a worthwhile cause as the Easter Seal Society."

Carl Licht, president of the society then reiterated Kuckelman's words by saying: "You people who have donated so many precious hours and raised a myriad of funds in your association with the Easter Seal Society are today witnessing what your service has made possible in helping crippled children and adults. It is our hope that we can all continue programs like these for the handicapped."

After the luncheon, the campers, who were presented at the festivities guided the Rotarians around the East Seal Center.

Today's activities ended with a show of magic tricks performed by Bill Poor.

Panel OKs training for police

The Sumpter Township Board has petitioned state legislators to save funds for the formal training program for police officers.

A resolution adopted last week by the board asks legislators to work against a proposed measure which would cut funding for the training program.

The resolution was forwarded to Sen. William Faust (D-13th District) and Rep. Edward Mahalak (D-38th District.)

State committee sells scale-size area photos

Area persons interested in obtaining aerial photographs for any given place in Michigan can contact the state agriculture committee.

Walter Wittenbach, Chairman of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said the U.S. Department of Agriculture provides aerial photos of the lower peninsula of Michigan about every seven or eight years. The upper peninsula is surveyed by air at lesser intervals.

The scales for the photos range from 3334 feet to the inch up to 300 feet to the inch. Prints cover four square miles unless a special order is filed. The costs are from $1.75 to $9. The private sale of aerial photos pays 80 per cent of the general cost for aerial photography.

The photos can be ordered to exact scale so that accurate distance between given points may be obtained without ground measurement. Also, exact acreages may be determined for any given area such as fields, lakes, woods and other area.

These photos are used extensively for land-use planning, urban development, drainage projects, and high layouts.

The state agriculture office is located at 1405 S. Harrison Road, East Lansing, 48823.

Town holds hearing on apartments

Van Buren Township residents can have their say on a proposed apartment complex to be built in the area.

The Van Buren Township Planning Commission is scheduling a public hearing on the zoning ordinance for the property, located at Morton and Taylor Roads and the I-94 Expressway, at 8 p.m. Sept. 12.

The zoning petition, for land just north of Belleville Lake, was filed by Frank J. Volk and Associates, 24731 Michigan Ave., Dearborn. The land is now zoned single-family residential.

University of Michigan raises fall student fees

University of Michigan student fees will be raised for the fall term to reflect both the increased costs of operations and the recent Supreme Court decision invalidating the residency regulations for out-of-state students.

Increased revenue from these increased rates will amount to about six per cent over the 1972-73 revenue from student fees.

However, as a result of the court decision and to increase revenue by six per cent, student fees will be raised an average of about 24 per cent to offset the expected shift of students from out-of-state status to in-state status.

The new fee rate for Michigan residents in the freshman and sophomore classes will be $400 for each term, a $52 increase over last year's $348 per term. Out-of-state (non-resident) students in those two classes will pay $1,300, a $170 increase from last year's $1,130.

Resident juniors and seniors will be charged $452 per term, a $104 increase from last year's $348. Non-residents in those two classes will pay $1,400, a $270 increase from 1972-73's $1,130.

Other rate changes will take place in the graduate, medical, dental, public health, business and law schools. The highest tuition will be in the medical and dental schools, where Michigan residents will pay $800 per term (up $170 from $630 last year) and non-residents will pay $1,600 per term (up $330 from $1,270).

"We deeply regret having to impose this heavy additional burden on U-M students," U-M President Robben W. Fleming said. "However, as we have said many times in recent months, we have no other recourse than to increase tuition to maintain the revenue levels the university must have to remain in the top notch of American universities."

"Recent Supreme Court decisions have required the university to adopt new residency requirements. We anticipate that the resulting liberalization of the rules will take away about $2.5 million in revenue — and this income is needed for U-M operations."

"While we are grateful for the increased state appropriation which now appears imminent, it is not sufficient to meet the university's needs without substantial additional income."

Every entering resident freshman undergraduate who has received an award of financial assistance from the university did so based upon an anticipated two term tuition rate of $740. Each award will automatically be adjusted upward to reflect this additional fee increase, Fleming said.

State police set auction location

Michigan auction fans will have two days this year to bid for bargains at a new location when the state police hold their annual sale Aug. 16 and 17. The auction begins each day at 9 a.m.

The location for the nineteenth auction will be at Boys Training School field house, 400 N. Pennsylvania, Lansing. In past years the sale has been in East Lansing at State Police headquarters. The volume of merchandise is being sorted into sales lots. The confiscated, recovered and unclaimed articles were turned in primarily by the Michigan State Police and the Department of Natural Resources. The items come from 71 of the state's 83 counties.

The 116-page listing of articles includes a pickup truck, three snowmobiles, about 80 shotguns and rifles, a rototiller, a go-cart, a hand-cart, 13 minibikes, two motorcycles, several outboard motors, three lawn mowers, about 100 bicycles, television sets, radios, books, hand and power tools, business machines, musical instruments, clothing, sporting equipment, cameras, watches, rings, car parts and accessories.

The auction is authorized by law to dispose of items confiscated for law violations, unclaimed articles whose owners or heirs are unknown, and items lost or abandoned at state parks.

Chief benefactor of the sale is the state treasurer which last year netted an all-time high return of $10,444.

A NURSERY SCHOOL GET-TOGETHER — The Carousel Cooperative Nursery of Belleville will begin its fall sessions on Sept. 10 at the United Presbyterian Church, 11900 Belleville Rd., Belleville. Three pre-school youngsters took advantage of an early opportunity to visit the nursery. They are (from left) Amy Wilson, 4, 245 Roland Ave., Belleville; Rebecca Loyd, 5, of 1655 Victor Ave. and Gretchen Loyd, 3, both of 1655 Victor Ave., Belleville. The nursery offers pre-school children a variety of play equipment, new experiences and qualified teachers. For further information contact Wendy Dixon at 482-1978.

Youngsters play at pre-school

The Carousel Co-operative Nursery of Belleville is accepting applications for its fall sessions slated to begin on Sept. 10 and 11.

Specifically designed for three and four-year-olds, the nursery's program offers pre-school children a variety of play equipment, new experiences and qualified teachers. Being a cooperative nursery, Carousel is organized and operated by the parents, who contribute their time, talents and ideas to the maintenance of the nursery program. The parents assist the teachers during class sessions on a rotation basis. They have the opportunity to observe their child and other small children in a group setting, and the chance to meet other parents in the same stage of child-rearing. They also have a voice in the formation of the nursery.

Children who will be three or four years old by Dec. 1 are eligible for the three or four-year-old sessions respectively.

Persons who are interested in Carousel's program are asked to call membership chairman, Wendy Dixon at 482-1978.

Airbags need testing automobile expert says

Airbags are like the teenager who has just received his driver's license. They show promise but need some on-the-road experience to determine how safe they will be in all situations.

That appraisal of the controversial passive restraint devices is made by Automobile Club of Michigan's Motor News magazine.

In drawing this conclusion, Motor News Editor Len Barnes interviewed several impartial safety experts as well as automotive executives. He also drove an airbag-equipped 1973 car for several weeks.

"IT SHOULD be noted that even in each auto company, airbags have their passionate supporters and strong disapprovers as to their readiness for instant installation," Barnes said.

The present ambivalence towards airbags boils down to two basic conflicting attitudes:

—Adequate testing has been made to establish that airbags are effective and reliable accident safeguards and, as a result, are ready for mass installation.

—While early test results are encouraging, airbags have not been used on large enough scales to be conclusively analyzed.

QUESTIONS particularly remain as to their effectiveness in collisions other than frontal — especially in comparison to seat belts — and if they can be produced at a cost not prohibitive to the average motorist — consumer.

Later this year or early in 1974, airbags will be offered to the general public for the first time. General Motors (GM) plans to market 100,000 1974 model cars equipped with airbags for the driver and front-seat passenger.

The GM move will come two model years before the federal government — as the law now stands — will require that new autos have passive restraints for all seat positions and that the restraints must pass prescribed tests for 30 m.p.h. head-on and 20 m.p.h. side-barrier crashes.

Those who now favor wide-scale introduction of airbags include consumer advocate Ralph Nader and Allstate Insurance Company.

JACK MARTENS, Allstate's auto engineering director said that some auto companies are "dragging their feet on airbags." Martens further criticized the auto industry's "insistence on further testing."

The Auto Club said the 1976 passive restraint requirement be suspended indefinitely due to insufficient real-life testing.

DISCUSSING THE BUSING — The pro's and con's of busing continues to be a hotly debated issue both in the metropolitan Detroit area and in Washington, D.C. Area officials, including Lee Betz, (left) traveled to Washington, D.C. recently for a seminar on busing. He met with William D.

Ford (D-15th District) and William Saxton, attorney for suburban school districts opposed to forced busing. In Detroit, the NAACP is asking U.S. Court Judge Stephen Roth to include more suburban schools in a suit to allow busing.

Safety Associations warns motorists

The Traffic Safety Association of Detroit warns area motorists not to drink and drive. In fact, the association also warns passengers not to drink intoxicating beverages in a vehicle on a public highway.

The so-called "Open Bottle Bill" law is in effect. Gov. William Milliken signed the law July 11.

possess any alcoholic liquor in a container which is open, uncapped, or upon which the seal is broken, within the passenger compartment of a vehicle on the highways of this state.

"If the vehicle does not have a trunk or compartment separate from the passenger compartment, a container which is open, uncapped, or upon which the seal is broken shall be encased or enclosed."

According to Col. John R. Plants, Director of Michigan State Police, the law is actually an amendment to the 1933 Michigan statutes dealing with liquor control and traffic.

"There is some confusion I think in the public mind about this law," Plants said. "The law previously stated that you cannot consume alcoholic beverages on the highway. This still is the case. Only now, we have strengthened it by adding the 'open container' amendment to the existing law. Hopefully this will help the enforcement problem.

"In the past, even though the intent of the law has been quite clear, an officer had to literally see a person drinking liquor, beer or any alcoholic beverages in the highway before an offense could be charged."
